

Website Terms & Conditions

Do not treat anything on this site as legal advice. The contents are provided for general interest only, and have to be by necessity brief and generalised. They may contain errors or be incorrect in the circumstances which apply to you. The law changes frequently, and we do not update articles which were published in the past. You must always take specific advice from a solicitor or barrister properly qualified in the legal system which applies to you.

Accordingly we will not be responsible for any action which you take or refrain from taking in reliance on anything contained in this site. But we will be pleased to offer further advice or information on any of the topics here, and are of course responsible to our clients in the ordinary way for our advice to them and work done for them.

User Rights and Intellectual Property Rights

You may download, store, view and print anything from this website for your personal reference only. All rights in this website and the content of this website including copyright, design rights, trade marks, source codes and any other intellectual property rights in any of the foregoing are reserved to Guildford Chambers.

Links

This website may contain links to other websites solely for your convenience. We do not endorse any such linked sites and we assume no responsibility for the contents of any other website to which this website offers links.

Cookies notice

Guildford Chamber's website uses small text files called 'cookies' which are placed on your computer or device whenever you visit our website. These files help us understand how people use our website and improve the quality and content of our site for our visitors. The aggregated statistical data cover items such as total visits or page views. Our cookies by themselves do not tell us your email address or otherwise identify you personally.

By navigating on our website you agree that we can place these cookies on your computer or device.

Although most browsers automatically accept cookies, you can choose whether or not to accept cookies via your browser's settings and you may also delete cookies at any time.

If you have questions about Guildford Chamber's use of cookies please email clerks@guildfordchambers.com